Marquee Sports Network to Broadcast Live All Three Cubs Exhibition Games

Len Kasper and Jim Deshaies will be on the call for White Sox at Cubs on July 19, Cubs at White Sox on July 20, and Twins at Cubs on July 22

Chicago/July 9, 2020—Marquee Sports Network, the TV home of the Chicago Cubs, will air the team's three exhibition games live and in prime time. In advance of the regular season opener on July 24, the Cubs will host the White Sox on July 19 at 7:05pm, play the White Sox at Guaranteed Rate Field the next night at 7:10pm, and conclude the exhibition season against the Twins at Wrigley Field on July 22 at 6:05pm.

"We are very excited and proud to bring Cubs fans live baseball again," said Marquee Sports Network GM Mike McCarthy. "These three pre-season games will lead us nicely into the day everyone is waiting for—the Cubs' opener on July 24, which will also be on our network."

Marquee Sports Network talent will cover all three games, as TV announcers Len Kasper and Jim Deshaies will be on the call from the Wrigley Field booth for all the exhibition games; reporter Taylor McGregor will handle in-game duties from inside Wrigley Field for the Cubs' two home games and inside Guaranteed Rate Field when the team plays at the White Sox. Health and safety protocols will be followed by everyone involved in the broadcast.

All regular season Cubs games this season will be on Marquee Sports Network, unless selected as a national exclusive telecast.
